Keep Your Child Safe this Summer

Child Abuse Prevention Center to hold news conference on drowning prevention, heat and bike safety tips

SACRAMENTO — The Child Abuse Prevention Center will be holding a news conference this Friday to provide vital safety tips to parents and caregivers on keeping children safe this summer.

“Summer is a very dangerous time for children with the hazards that swimming pools, bikes, scooters, and the heat can present,” said Child Abuse Prevention Center President and CEO Sheila Boxley. “We’re here to share a few simple things parents can do to keep their kids safe this summer — because many of the injuries and deaths that do occur each summer ARE preventable.”

Date/Time: Friday, June 11, 2010 — 11AM

Location: Southside Park Pool, 6th and U Street, Sacramento

Participants: Sheila Boxley, President and CEO, Child Abuse Prevention Center; Daniel Falco, M.D., Sutter Medical Center; Sacramento Fire Department Battalion Chief Niko King; Dorothy Aschenbrenner, SafeKids.
