

Signs and Symptoms of Shaken Baby Syndrome

A baby that has been shaken may show one or more of the following signs:

- Absence of response to stimulation
- Lethargy
- Convulsions
- Inability to make sounds
- Inability to track movement
- Difficulty breathing
- Change in skin tone
- Unconsciousness
- Vomiting
- Rolling eyes
- Unusual or unexplained change in sleeping pattern
- Confusion, restlessness or agitation
- Sleepiness or absence of energy
- Slurred speech (older children)
- Uncontrollable crying
- Unexplained inability to be consoled
- Unexplained inability to nurse/eat
- Crying quieted to whimpering